STORY OF CHİCKEN HERSE

Herse, a unique celebratory dish from Cyprus, is a much-loved delicacy made with wheat, meat, or chicken.
Its preparation varies slightly depending on the region. In some places, the meat is placed raw in a pot, wheat is added, water is poured, and it is cooked slowly over low heat. In other regions, the chicken or meat is boiled separately and then cooked with the wheat. Herse is often prepared as a celebratory dish in many homes and shared among neighbors.
